WAITRESS WANTED
APPLY
HAINAN'S RESTAURANTBUND'S LEADER,
KUHN, TO SERVE
TERM IN JAIL

Sentenced to Prison For Two and a Half to Five Years

GRAND LARCENY IS ACCUSATION

Sentence Is Suspended In Case of "Blonde's" Moving Expense

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Fritz Kuhn, German-American bund leader, today was sentenced to a prison term of from two and a half to five years. He was convicted last week of grand larceny of bund funds.

That sentence was imposed on the count of grand larceny in the James D. C. Murray transaction and on two counts of forgery in that connection.

Suspended In Camp Case

Sentence was suspended by Judge James V. Wallace on the transaction involving the alleged payment of the moving expenses of Mrs. Virginia Camp, the "blonde angel" of Kuhn's love letters.

Murray had testified during the trial that he had never received $500 which Kuhn claimed to have paid him for legal services.

The other charge of larceny concerned $717 allegedly given Mrs. Camp.

"This man is not to be sentenced because he is a hate dispenser or a rabble rouser, for there are thousands of others in this country," Judge Wallace said before he pronounced sentence.

Kuhn's attorney, Peter L. F. Sabatino, had contended during the trial that political persecution lay at the bottom of the case.

The judge denied a defense request to suspend sentence.

"I will rely upon your vast store of experience to pass a fitting sentence," Sabatino said.

He made no motion to defer execution of sentence pending a possible appeal.

Conviction and sentence automatically deprive Kuhn of such civil rights as voting, holding public office and other privileges granted citizenship. These can be restored only by action of the governor after Kuhn has served his sentence.

The big event for this year is scheduled to get under way Wednesday night.

Yule Treasure Hunt To Begin Wednesday

Automobile Sales Gain In November

LISBON, Dec. 5.—The sale of new automobiles in Columbian county is keeping pace with business conditions.

Clerk of Courts Carl Stacey stated today in reporting that certificates of title were recorded for 203 new cars in his office during November.

This was an increase of 40 over the corresponding period last year when 163 certificates of title were issued, and 51 more than were issued during October.

He advised officers to use leniency in such cases after patrolmen issued a ticket for ignoring a red light to Joseph D. Barnard as he was rushing an expectant mother and her husband to hospital.

Manderbaug excused Barnard.

O. K. Mr. Stork

CANTON, Dec. 5.—If it's a case of beating the stork or the traffic light, it's all right to crash the stop signal. Police Chief Ira Manderbaug contended today.

REDS SPURN PARLEY BID FROM LEAGUE

Russia Declares She Is Not In State of War With Finland

MOSCOW, Dec. 5.—Soviet Russia has given notice of withdrawal from sessions of the League of Nations called to act on Finland's charge of aggression. Russia, in fact, construes the invitation as an insult.

At Geneva, league circles took for granted, in view of the Russian response and a movement among American league members for expulsion of Russia, that the Soviet Union would withdraw completely from the league, or be forced out.

Even as Leningrad military headquarters last night reported deepening advances into Finland, Tass, official Russian news agency, announced rejection of the league invitation on grounds that "the Soviet Union is not in a state of war with Finland and does not threaten the Finnish people with war."

League machinery for sessions of the council and assembly, starting next Saturday and Monday, respectively, was started Sunday on the request of Rudolf Holsti, Finland's permanent league delegate, that the league "take all necessary measures to check the aggression" of the Soviet Union.

The league notification to Russia was telegraphed yesterday and quoted from the letter submitted by Holsti charging that the U. S. R. had "attacked not only frontier positions, but also open towns of Finland, sowing death and destruction among the civilian population, especially by air attacks."

The border reports also said three Soviet planes had raided Salminjaervi and nearby regions of northern Finland.

Finnish hope that aid might be forthcoming from Sweden was indicated by quick fortification of the Åland Islands which would keep open a sea route between the two nations.

Fear Fresh Attack

Helsinki's early winter night closed down after a quiet day which saw no resumption of air attacks on the capital. But Finns gloomily expressed fear that Soviet Russia might choose the 21st anniversary of Finnish independence tomorrow to unleash a new attack from the sky.

Always observed with solemnity by the Finns, the independence anniversary will have added significance to the sturdy northerners' fight to preserve their freedom.

Movement of civilians out of Helsinki to the interior is practically complete, but workmen still are hurriedly boarding up windows and doors.

SPEAKERS REACH COUNTY FINALS

Louis J. Raymond to Represent Salem in Prince of Peace Contest at New Waterford

Representing the First Baptist church in next Sunday's county-wide Prince of Peace declamation contest will be Louis J. Raymond, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Raymond of 303 W. Fifth st., and a Salem High school student.

The event will take place in the evening at the First Methodist church in New Waterford.

The various church winners in the contest, sponsored by the Ohio Council of Churches, will compete for a silver medal, emblematic of the county championship. Later the county winners will enter a district gold medal competition, to determine a district winner who will enter the state competition in January for cash prizes and college scholarships.

In letters congratulating Raymond and other winners on gaining admittance to the county contest, Rev. B. F. Lamb of Columbus, executive secretary of the Ohio Council of Churches, said in part:

"Besides gaining public speaking experience, you have put yourself on the right side of the peace question and have rendered significant service toward the building of better interdenominational understanding. I trust you will continue to be active in the educational campaign for peace throughout your life."

The Prince of Peace Declamation contest, now in its 50th year, is conducted annually among boys and girls of high school age as a means of building understanding of world problems and creating intelligent peace sentiment.

Prominent guests included Harry Wilkinson of Cleveland, grand chancellor, and James Dunn of Cleveland, past supreme chancellor. District Deputy Wood was in charge of the meeting.

TALK SOFTENS THE BLOW

The only reason that dictatorships waste breath on talk is to develop the right mood in the minds of their subjects. The Nazis rant and rave about Polish sinfulness, the Reds snort and fume about the evil Finns, not because the Poles and Finns were desperate characters but because they had been marked for extinction and there was a little matter of rationalization to be handled.

This is an interesting part of the game of fooling some of the people all of the time, but certainly not copyrighted by dictatorships. In the United States at the moment the same thing is taking place in a different connection—and not strictly for non-lethal purposes either. The government is talking the country around to a new point of view about debt. This is being done somewhat as follows:

The people have been advised by their President and his spokesmen that a contemplated spending increase of $500,000,000 for defense should not be added to debt but should be paid for out of new taxes. Furthermore, military expenses should be divided as between "ordinary" and "emergency," following the example of the two-way bookkeeping favored by the Roosevelt administration. Then what will happen?

Physicians will yelp that there must be no new taxes—not even for national defense by gum and by gravy. The President will say very well then, gents, the only thing to do is boost the national debt limit from 45 billion dollars to whatever's needed or infinity, whichever one is closer. And the whole thing will be done without much more than a quiver, because no one will dare to question the necessity of spending another half billion on national defense at a time like this.

THE SCENE CHANGES

The last time Finns fought Russians, early in the World war, the attention of the western world was centered on action in France. Russia was an important member of the Allies; Finland was an ex-officio member of the Central Powers, with high strategic value due to its strategic position on Petrograd's doorstep.

Its nuisance value for that same reason is still high, though in 1939 Finland is an ex-officio member of the Allies, with Germany nominally aligned with, instead of against, Russia. But Russia still is Finland's enemy, and Petrograd, called Leningrad now, still is a vulnerable city as long as Finland controls access to its port.

This fact in all likelihood is the key to the puzzle of why Russia has attacked a smaller, weaker country, sacrificing its carefully developed foreign policy of non-aggression and its claim to proletarian support as the one major power on earth that wouldn't wage war. Russia is afraid of something.

Logically, it has reason to fear only one nation—Germany. No other nation is in position to threaten Russian security through use of the Baltic sea. So perhaps the thing that has put Finns and Russians at each other's throats is the same as it was in the World war—the clash of power politics between Russians and Germans. The scene changes, but the more it changes in Europe the more it is the same—the same old struggle to beat the other nation to the punch.

DEWEY'S HAT

The initials read T. E. D. for Thomas E. Dewey, who was born in Owosso, Mich., March 24, 1902, and after an uneventful childhood was graduated a bachelor of arts from University of Michigan in 1923 and a lawyer from Columbia University in 1925. He then associated himself with a firm, then another firm, then with the government, then went into private practice in 1934—nothing extraordinary so far.

But one thing led to another and the lawyer gradually got into prosecution, helping to put the finger on Charles E. Mitchell for tax evasion and on one Waxey Gordon for more serious offenses. In November of 1937, voters of New York county decided Thomas E. Dewey was the right man to be their Mr. District Attorney, and by proving they were right Mr. Dewey won publicity in every newspaper of the country. He became Big Poison in person for criminals in his jurisdiction.

In 1938 he ran the legs off Goy Lehman for reelection to an office the latter had filled capably and that's why in 1939 it is vital information that a hat with the initials T. E. D. has been tossed into the ring reserved for presidential candidates. It's not often a losing candidate wins prestige; any Republican who can come close to Lehman (the vote was Lehman 2,391,286, Dewey 2,326,892) in a New York election wins not only prestige but a new hat and the right to toss it into a ring.

TO HAVE AND TO HOLD

If everything goes well, the U. S. department of labor may call a national conference next spring on a problem that affects the happiness of more Americans than can be counted easily—household help. In deciding to ask for such a conference, a recent gathering of women in New York City made it plain there were difficulties on both sides of the relationship. Until good employees are assured of good employers and vice versa, there will be a crying need for certain specific remedies.

One is to make home management a business proposition, which is actually what it is. "There are plenty of people who would do this work if they could feel that they may have lives of their own," is the way Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt analyzes the paradoxical shortage of household employees in a period of unemployment. If the status of household work were lifted and stabilized, in other words, there would be more capable household workers. The supply would increase to answer the demand.

It is not an isolated problem, but a general one. Demand for household workers is no longer confined to the well-to-do, but comes as well from an increasing number of families that "afford" household help as a necessity, not as a luxury. To have a good worker and to hold one is more than a "servant problem" for such families; it is a problem in employer-employee relationship and should be so considered.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, December 6.

Judging by the adverse lunar aspects of this day, there may be difficulties, stubborn obstacles, delays or postponements, to be met with patience, determination and sound sense. The latter may be supplemented by a quickened intuition or perhaps a sudden "hunch" which may help break up a static or critical situation. The advice of superiors may likewise prove profitable.

Those whose birthday it is are on the brink of a year in which they must exercise resolution, perseverance and sagacity in order to vanquish difficult, trying and obstinate situations. Congestions and impediments call for decisive handling.

A child born on this day may have certain handicaps in its early life, but these impediments may be vanquished by patience, fortitude and determination. Its superiors may cooperate.

The Finnish newspapers say they hope nobody abroad will believe such nonsense as the charge that little Finland provoked war with Russia's 170,000,000 people. The Finns may rest assured that nobody will be foolish enough to believe anything of the sort.

However, out of sight, out of mind, doesn't apply to a submarine.

Business is developing enough power to make the climb without shifting into low.

The inventor of basketball is dead, but millions of boys will keep his memory green.

Opinions Are At Variance
On Pulp Stones In Teeth

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

What are pulp stones in the teeth? How dangerous are they? What should be done about them?

Pulp stones are found in the nerve of the tooth. They vary in size, shape and number. In some cases there is one small stone, replacing almost the entire nerve, and in others there may be a considerable number of small stones.

Some research workers insist that pulp stones are the result of infection in the tooth nerve. Others think they are the result of irritation in the form of decay, heat and cold shocks, or pyorrhoea. They are usually discovered accidentally on x-ray examination. They do not reduce pain. If a tooth gives trouble and the x-ray shows the presence of a stone, either the nerve must be removed and the nerve canal filled, or the tooth must be removed.

Reducing

Is a vegetable and milk diet good for reducing?

The vegetable and milk diet for reducing is by no means new. As long as a hundred years ago it was known that vegetables and milk constituted a good reduction diet. No more graphic description of the difficulties under which overweight people suffer and the relief obtained upon losing weight can be found than the experience of Dr. George Cheyne as recorded in the European Magazine of 1824:

"I wish corpulent people no diseases for their cure; still less can I recommend medicines to them. Dr. Fothergill observes, that a strict adherence to vegetable diet reduces exuberant fat more certainly than any other means that he knows, and Dr. Cheyne furnished, in his own person, an extraordinary instance of its efficacy.

This physician, when between 30 and 40 years of age, had, by indulgence in the pleasures of the table, swelled to such a size as to exceed 30-stone weight. He was obliged to have the whole side of his chariot made open to admit him; and he grew short-breathed, lethargic, nervous, and scorbutic, so that his life became an intolerable burden. In this deplorable condition, after trying in vain all the power of medicine, he resolved to confine himself to a milk and vegetable diet, the good effect of which quickly appeared. His size was reduced almost to a third, and he recovered his strength, activity, and cheerfulness, with the perfect use of all his faculties."

Hospital Changes

I am in receipt of a report which shows the changes that are made in medical care as a result of the war. The London hospitals have been cleared as far as possible of ordinary patients in order to provide accommodations for the large number of casualties expected.

They only maintain about 20 percent of their accommodations for cases of urgent illness, and only cases from the district in which the hospital is situated are admitted.

Certain kinds of medical service are entirely curtailed; the use of radium is an example. Most of the national stock of radium has been buried at the foot of a 50-foot hole especially drilled for use in war time. The radium and its containers are in a steel cylinder which, before being lowered, was loaded at the well head by an operator who stood for protection behind a thick block of lead. For the present, high voltage x-ray treatment will be used instead of radium treatment, wherever possible.

WANTING!

"KNIGHT ERRANT"

by Jack McDonald

CHAPTER XXVII
Knight Errant endured with remarkable equine stoicism a trying ordeal as the veterinarian probed with his long forceps, finally locating and withdrawing the sponge used to seal the horse's nostrils months before. Two nights after the operation, Knight Errant came down with a fever.

There was an anxious night, while Heather, Slim and Snapper rode the horse, awaiting the veterinarian's verdict.

"Infection" was his diagnosis. "Get him to a high, dry climate at once if you want to save him!" Recalling an old friend, Pop Logan, who had a small ranch in Arizona, Slim arranged to take theiling Knight Errant there in a borrowed van.... The colt recuperated rapidly and was soon exercising daily on the ranch's quarter-mile track, with the hefty but able Snapper in the saddle.

And so, in virtual hiding, Knight Errant was kept for three weeks in Arizona. . . .

Slim knew at last he had a great race horse, trained to the minute, in the trailer van in back of his master as he drove into Santa Anita nine days in advance of the big race.

The problem of getting a good jockey came up one night when Slim exclaimed, "Dimples Draper! We'll get him!" Then his enthusiasm died.

"Aw, he's riding at Hialeah. The Colonel won't let him off," Snapper said gloomily.

"Well," commented Slim. "I'll ride him anyway."

Driving to the telegraph office Slim told Heather he was going to give Knight Errant a final hard race in the San Antonio day after tomorrow to put him on edge for the big race.

"But, Slim, Comanche will surely be entered in that race," Heather protested.

"Good! I hope he is," Slim replied.

"We'll find out how good Comanche is. And how much better Knight Errant is. We have nothing to worry about — nothing at all."

Harts quickened in the long line of boxes overhanging the broad sweep of Santa Anita. But none beat faster than Heather's as a re-born Knight Errant, his black coat richer in sleekness than ever before, in the unmistakable glow of health and fitness, marched with his quick, nervous tread down the track to the starting gate.

A hush, as though it sensed the import of the race this day, fell over the vast throng of 40,000 as sixteen horses—the fittest and fleetest on the grounds—paraded by the stands for the running of the San Antonio at a mile and an eighth.

The San Antonio preceded the Santa Anita by only one week. Edith Ashleigh was in a box joining Heather's. Flushed with pride and confidence in her black knight, she even felt a lenient kindness for Edith.

"Sorry we must be rivals today, Edith," she dimpled. "After all, they're two grand horses — Comanche and Knight Errant—and it's a shame they can't both win."

Edith flashed back, "Let us just say, 'May the better horse win,' with our fingers crossed, and pray for a dead heat," she smiled.

And only the moment before Edith and Heather had spoken so solicitously of each other's horse, Slim Maynard had been down in the saddling paddock telling Knight Errant's rider, "Davey" Jones, in effect, to "knock Comanche for a loop."

"Either that big horse has Knight Errant's number or he hasn't," he told Jones.

"This race will tell the tale. Open up all the daylight you can on Comanche in the early running."

"And when Comanche makes a move at you in the stretch ride Knight Errant out with the whip, to the limit. If we can lick him at a mile and an eighth today we can make it at a mile and a quarter next week."

Slim left the paddock and started for the box to join Heather, hurrying, for the horses were nearing the starting gate.

The field left the gate in perfect alignment and, as usual, Knight Errant's blazing early speed took him to the front.... Neck and neck for an eighth of a mile up the stretch, they matched stride for stride. Knight Errant, a neck in front, refusing to surrender an inch of ground to the big horse.

Dolan crouched low, his head on Comanche's neck, sensed he was beaten. He reigned Comanche over toward the rail where Knight Errant was saving ground. In a moment Dolan had Comanche locked against Knight Errant's flanks.

"Comanche! That big tramp! Look at him! He's stealing a free ride on Knight Errant's flanks!" It was Snapper, groaning down by the rail.

Standing 17 hands 4 inches, and towering over Knight Errant, Comanche leaned his 1,300 pounds heavily on Heather's horse.

In spite of the lugging-in tactics of his equine elephant rival which he had once served as a lowly workhorse, Knight Errant shouldered this extra burden and hung on with the courage of a bulldog down the final eighth mile of the grueling distance battle.

They thundered toward the wire. Just a stride from the finish line Knight Errant, his liquid eyes afire with rage at being shoved around by the bigger horse, turned his head and sank his teeth savagely into Comanche's neck.

The vast crowd roared its disapproval. Nearly half the狂暴的 Comanche tickets in their hands.

Because Knight Errant turned his back at the wire the finish was close, and over on the odds-board the word "PHOTO" was flashed

Former Teacher In Egypt Addresses Book Club Here

Miss Wilma Mintier, teacher of geography in Cuyahoga Falls, who spent several years as a teacher in Egypt, painted a "word mural" of the land of the Israelites. The third period in Egypt's long history is the modern, which is seeing a new land, a young power springing out of the unbelievably ancient one.

Miss Mintier described the lure of Cairo as a blending of the beauty of the city's wonders with the vast importance of the work in aiding a young and new civilization to arise from the relics of the old.

WOOSTER CLUB MEETS DEC. 11

Mahoning Valley Group To Hear Dr. A. A. Johnston

WOOSTER, Dec. 5—Dr. A. A. Johnston, head of the sociology department of the College of Wooster, will be the faculty guest speaker when the Wooster club of the Mahoning valley meets Monday, Dec. 11, at 8 p.m. at the First Presbyterian church to observe the nineteenth annual "Wooster day."

St. Elm Is Included

Wooster now has 370 graduates and former students living in the Mahoning valley in 87 communities and all are included in the Wooster Club of the Mahoning Valley.

Salem is included in the area of Officers of the club are:

Mrs. D. W. Mumford, 3315 Glenwood Ave., Youngstown, president; Mrs. John Darrow, 97 Spring St., Scrubbers, vice president; Miss Miriam Siegfried, of Poland, secretary; Mrs. W. P. Barker, of Canfield, treasurer.

The first "Wooster day" was held in 1921. The idea was originated by John D. McKee, college business manager who was alumni secretary at that time.

Date Significant

The date, Dec. 11, was selected for the annual meeting of Wooster clubs because it is significant in Wooster's history. On Dec. 11, 1903, the library was dedicated. On Dec. 11, 1901, fire destroyed "Old Main," a six-story brick building which housed most of the college classrooms and laboratories. On Dec. 11, 1902, dedication exercises were held for four buildings, Severance, Scovel, Kauke and Taylor halls and for the power plant which was dismantled this fall to be replaced by the new $225,000 Herman Westinghouse power plant.

Wooster clubs are now organized in forty communities. Each year these clubs meet on or near Dec. 11 to renew college friendships. Faculty members go out from the campus to meet with many of the clubs. A message from Dr. Charles F. Wishart, president of Wooster since 1919, is read as a part of the evening's program.

Preparations are being made for a union Christmas entertainment to be given by the local churches.

SECURITY PLAN AIDS FARMERS

Helps Rural Folk Maintain Independence In Adversity

LISBON, Dec. 5.—A remarkable service is being carried on in this and other counties of the state for the farmers of low incomes by the Farm Security administration. This service, whereby a struggling farm family may obtain a loan when they are unable to secure reasonable credit elsewhere, has greatly aided such rural folks to maintain their independence rather than being forced to apply for relief, or from greatly increasing WPA rolls.

François A. Wolfe, supervisor of the Columbiania county offices of the security program, who is conducting investigations each week in the court house, announced that there are 110 active accounts in this county, and that all participating farmers are greatly interested in this program.

Loans are based upon estimated possible income from the farm, and a farm family in making application for a loan must first show a good lease upon the land and complete plans of operation for the next year.
The loans may be obtained for the purpose of purchasing seed, feed, livestock, machinery or for making minor repairs to buildings.

Instructions are also given to the applicants in farm and home management, and they must set up plans each year until the loan is liquidated. The budget must include the cost of groceries or any food, supplemental feeds and farm needs which they may have to buy, and the amount of vegetables, crops and feed which can be raised.

This must be approved by the local office and the borrowers report when they are called in once each year, the sessions beginning early in October and continuing until February with group meetings once a week.

WAR SUPPLIES PARLEY TOPIC

Chamberlain Will Set Up Day Next Week For Secret Session

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 5.—Sources close to the government indicated today that Prime Minister Chamberlain would accede to demands of labor and liberal leaders by designating one day next week for secret parliamentary discussion of one subject—war supplies.

Although parliament met secretly to discuss various subjects during the World war, the government has hesitated this time for fear of engendering false reports.

Meanwhile, Britain lost valuable food supplies when the German "pocket battleship" Admiral Scheer sank the 10,086-ton refrigerator ship Doric Star in the south Atlantic with a cargo of meats from New Zealand and Australia.

No Word on Crew

The Doric Star normally carries a crew of 70 and has accommodations for six passengers, but there was no word on their fate.

An admiralty announcement last night blamed a "German raider" for loss of the Doric Star, and unofficial sources specified the Admiral Scheer.

This raider has been mentioned previously in the sinking of only two ships, the British freighter Clement in the south Atlantic Oct.
2, and the British tanker Africa
Shell in the Indian ocean off East Africa Nov. 16.

In home waters, the British freighter Eskdale, 2,829 tons, was sunk by a mine yesterday and the British steamer Hamsterley, 2,100 tons, was sunk in a collision of the east coast of England. The 1,276-ton Scottish steamer Largsigil and the 1,064-ton Pindhorn were damaged in mysterious collisions of the west coast.

The Swedish steamer Rudolf, 2,159 tons, was reported sunk off the British coast Sunday.

British Claim "Secret Weapon"

Despite these losses, an authoritative source said the British had a new secret weapon that was "very satisfactory" in combating German magnetic mines.

Volunteers on trawlers were said to be using the closely-guarded new method. Neutral experts suggested the possibility of exploding such mines by dragging a metallic object between two wooden vessels.

(Reports received in Washington last week said the British had discovered that sound waves would detonate the mines.)

The export blockade that began yesterday went forward with sharp lookouts maintained at such bottlenecks as Gibraltar, the Suez Canal and the Straits of Dover.

A FARMER'S SKETCH BOOK

By WILLARD BOLTE • Stonycreekmouth Farm

Planting Without Plowing

James Laten farms over a thousand acres of rolling upland and bottom land in Lincoln County, Tennessee. Up to 1931 his upland fields were badly eroded and rapidly becoming almost worthless because of loss of top soil. That year he started on the job of getting all of his upland into a crop of small grain on the lespediza land each year without plowing. This plan has worked out splendidly. Erosion is a thing of the past—he gets a full crop of grain every spring—plus a full crop of lespediza for pasture, hay or seed—and year after year the lespediza is adding nitrogen to the soil. In preparing the lespediza sod for seeding oats, wheat, barley or rye, he stirs the soil deeply with a subsoil cultivator shown in the sketch—and then goes over the surface with a disk.

Tokyo Looking Toward Better Relations With America

(By Associated Press)

TOKYO, Dec. 5.—Looking toward better relations with the United States, Japan is paying off numerous claims for damages to American property in China, authoritative sources disclosed today.

They said Foreign Minister Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura informed United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew in a two-hour conference yesterday that Japan was prepared to settle such claims.

These sources declared, however, the Japanese disliked use of the U. S. Japanese trade treaty as a "club" for influencing policies in China.

Expires Jan. 26

The treaty, denounced by the United States in July, is due to expire Jan. 26.

It was said Grew and Nomura temporarily shelved discussion of such problems as the open door in the Orient and the nine-power treaty, Japan being primarily interested in bridging the period immediately following the treaty's expiration.

For this reason, many long-standing American damage claims for bombings in China are being compensated. It was understood reliably the government soon would release a compilation of evidences of Japan's good intentions, enumerating the cases and amounts paid.

The same sources denied reports Nomura had told Grew a rapprochement was impossible under threats of economic pressure, or that Japan was displeased over the reported strengthening of the American Pacific fleet.

Must Seek Elsewhere

The foreign minister merely stated, they said, that if America placed an embargo on exports to Japan, commodities must be sought elsewhere.

Observers said Japan at present was unable to go beyond specific incidents, as her future policies respecting all third powers in China must be conditioned by the sort and scope of government to be organized in China under Wang Ching-Wei.

American Relations

Rest of the War Torn World will discuss the discussion topic for the meetings, which will be held in Chapman hall beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday. Students will discuss aspects of American neutrality during the French revolution and the Napoleonic period, the World war, and the present crisis. All delegates will be guests of the college at a luncheon in Elliott hall Saturday noon.

Meetings of Forum Launched In Lisbon

LISBON, Dec. 5.—The first in a series of six Rural Forum meetings to benefit farm folk of the Columbiania county area was held last night in the American Legion hall with 70 present. Floyd Lower, county agricultural extension agent, presided.

Miss Lulu Bierman, Fairfield township school teacher, spoke on "Europe As I Saw It In 1939," while Rep. John P. Stephenson of East Liverpool told of his experiences in the state legislature.

At the next forum Dec. 18, C. W. Peters, Minerva humorist, and Mrs. Gaylord Hall of Lisbon will be the speakers.

FOUR SALEM FIGHTERS IN FRIDAY SHOW HERE

DICK SCULLION IN SEMI-FINAL BOUT ON CARD

Janovec, Lentz, Milliken Also Scheduled For Fights Friday

Four Salem fighters who will lose leather in the Judy A. C.'s seven-round amateur boxing show at the Memorial building Friday night began tapering off their workouts today after several weeks of intensive training in preparation for their important battles.

Julius Julian, manager of the Judy A. C. and promoter of the amateur club, reports that each of the four local lads is in top shape for the coming show.

Appearing in the show under the colors of the Judy A. C. will be Dick Scullion, Joe Janovec, Bob Lentz and Clarence (Smoky) Milliken.

Beasts 14 Wins

Scullion, who is scheduled to face George Popa of Canton in the five-round semi-final, will be appearing in his second comeback fight since injuring his thumb early last summer. Scullion has compiled a string of 14 victories against a single loss. Eight of his bouts were won by knockouts and six by decisions.

Scullion's record includes kayo over "Kid" Walters of Alliance, "Shade" Bennington of Sebring, Al Packard and "Sl" Mort of Youngstown, and Lawrence Irwin of Beloit.

Janovec, a 16-year-old boy with a promising future, will test his punches on Jimmy Kiser of Canton in a five-round scrap. Janovec, who has gained six wins since starting his amateur career, recently advanced from the 145-pound class to the middleweight division after gaining weight while playing football for Salem High school.

His first victory in the middle-weight ranks was a T. K. O. scored over Ray Eyster of Washingtonville. Julian reports that Janovec has developed a fast overhand left with a real punch and a good right that packs plenty of dynamite.

Lentz and Milliken will be featured in three-round preliminary scraps, the former meeting Jimmy Ramser of Alliance and the latter facing Mark Crestina of Alliance.

Likes Slugging Match

Lentz, a 16-year-old 126-pounder, will be making his first start in the ring. Julian classes him as a natural scrapper, shifty and clever with his hands.

The main bout of the show will send Al Sayes of Chester, W. Va., Pittsburgh Diamond Belt champion, who is recognized as one of West Virginia's leading amateurs, against Oliver Johnson of Canton.

Other bouts will feature Norman Pitch of Chester against George Findlay of Canton and Kenny Williams' of Chester against Roscoe Wilson of Alliance.

While the Althouse five was sweeping its match, the Finance team dropped a two of three games with the Hotel Lapin.

The Recreation Billiards posted three victories over the Saxon's to remain in third place, three games behind the Motors. Other matches gave Coy's Bucks two wins over the Golden Eagle, the Masons three victories over Burt Capel's Realtors and the Columbian Tyne club three wins over the Salem Motors.

Best individual performance of the night was turned in by Briggs of the Recreation Billiards, who finished with a 231 single game to a 612 series.

The Electric Furnace boosted its lead in the American league from four to five games by sweeping three games from Lease Drugs at the Masonic temple alleys.

Fernengel's Colts held to their second-place position, but dropped a game farther behind the Furnace team when they were held to two wins by Demings. In other American league matches, Fitzpatrick's Super Service won two out of three games with the Ohio Edison to remain in third place and the Democrats took two out of three heats with the Masons to move into a tie for fifth position.

Claims That Some Clubs Have Signed Fake Contracts

CINCINNATI, Dec. 5.—In the absence of any real news, the hero of the minor league and major league baseball convention here will have to remain Judge William G. Bramham, the czar of the little fellows, who at the last account east was viewing with alarm.

The poly-plex head of the minor leagues spoke loud and importantly yesterday, saying that there was skullduggery within his kingdom in the form of fake contracts, and that baseball faced some bad days indeed.

No one, as a matter of fact, was very much excited over whether
